FOREWARD

When we first began to talk about a 'Boogie Nationals in Margate', I knew something special was in the making. I've been to many PSC Boogies here, and know how amazing it is to eat up the extra altitude, soak in the incredible views from a fast aircraft, and generally take notice of Margate. Then we added to this already winning formula; another turbine aircraft, and two World Champion coaches.

Not since Sun City in 1993 has the skydiving community of South Africa seen two turbine aircraft operating for our annual National competition! Whilst the first week had perfect weather, many fun jumpers and competitors were missing, unable to get leave from their offices for such an extensive period. But soon enough the jumpers came pouring in. I was pleasantly surprised to realise that we have also accommodated jumpers from all but 2 drop zones in South Africa - the biggest attraction being the opportunity to get professional coaching from both Solly Williams and Mike Swanson.

Solly has to be one of South Africa's proudest exports. Hailing from Pietermaritzburg, Solly made his first skydive at Vreyheid Skydiving Club in 1988 and went on to represent South Africa at the 1997 World Meet, with the 4-Way Team Equanimity, whose performance won them a bronze medal. Not satisfied that this was the ceiling on their possible accomplishments, Solly and teammate Gary Smith relocated to the USA, where they have by now made over 6000 skydives together. Solly (and Gary) is part of the current US Champion team, DeLand Majik. Majik's achievements are mind-blowing: they hold the record for the highest 10 round average, at 23.1 and are the 2002 and 2003 World cup winners. You could see that Solly is no stranger to many of our more seasoned FS jumpers, and his coaching and tireless assistance in judging, lecturing and debriefing has been of immense help to our dedicated, but largely under exposed FS teams.

Last year, Team Simplyfly became the first freefly team to represent South Africa in freefly at a World Meet. Whilst the bulk of the teams entered at this year's Nationals were FS, it seems to me that every drop zone I visit is teeming with budding Freeflyers, just craving advice on optimum body positions and freefly techniques. We want to do what we see on the DVD's we import, but we just don't know how! As a member of the World Champion Team, Team Alchemy, Mike (also married to a South African) was the perfect choice to provide the advice and instruction freefly has so desperately needed. Freefly is a dynamic discipline, the randoms, blocks and set moves of which can change from year to year. While Mike has helped the senior freefly teams to understand the techniques behind these moves, his primary function has been in the coaching of individuals, helping immensely to improve the general standard of freefly. His invaluable coaching has revolutionised the way we were approaching sit flying, with his advice being to use your arms to balance, as much as you would use your legs - which is quite the opposite from what we have been learning. The flying skills and knowledge that these World Champions have imparted to (mostly our) more senior jumpers, will be filtered down through the ranks and, I am sure, become a the cornerstone for improved coaching methods and freefall performances.

Canopy Piloting was also competed in for the first time in South Africa. Ideally, the course should have been set up on the beach, but competitors and organisers alike agreed that this would be a logistical problem. In fact, beach jumps only really happened in the first week here, with serious competitors preferring to land at the airport so they could do more jumps!

PSC and JSC have worked together very closely in the 'away' hosting of a Boogie / Nationals, the likes of which I have never heard of in this country; proving to me that teamwork is the key to success in our sport! I hope that aircraft owners, drop zone operators and jumpers alike can take this to heart and choose always to support each other for the overall good of skydiving in South Africa.
